Wills & Estates: What to do with a deceased's vehicle?

If a person passes away and they have a vehicle registered to their name you will first of all need to see if:

- The person left the vehicle to someone specifically in their last Will; or
- If the vehicle forms part of their estate.

In order for the deceased's vehicle to be transferred/sold Vic Roads needs to ensure the correct representative is signing on behalf of the estate, this being an Executor or Administrator.

If a Grant of Representation (Probate or Letters of Administration) is being obtained

A Specific deceased estate transfer form found on the Vic Roads Website and will need to be completed and signed by the Executor/Administrator and purchaser/transferee and provided to Vic Roads with the following:

- The Executor's/Administrator's identification;
- Certificate of Road worthiness; and
- Certified copy of the Grant of Representation and or copy of the Will.

If a Grant of Representation (Probate or Letters of Administration) is not being obtained

For estates that do not hold a total value of over $50,000.00 a Grant of Representation is usually not required. In this instance, a letter from a Lawyer stating that they represent the estate and a Grant of Representation is not required can be supplied to Vic Roads with the transfer forms.
